THE TRUE VINE

Come unto me, saith our Lord Jesus Christ, the true vine. Let me perfect your life in love, grace and righteousness. With faith like a child you believe, and with my words in your mouth you possess all things that pertain to life and godliness. You make my promises a reality.

I got that feeling – rolling inside of me
The Spirit of Life – a river flowing free
Grace and joy fill up – this heart of mine
I have peace to hear His voice – praise to make a joyful noise
I drink that heavenly wine – that flows from the true vine

CHORUS:

Welcome to a brighter day – and a brand-new way
We live in faith, walk in grace – know our Lord face-to-face
With one breath in glory, the next breath in victory
Day by day I use the weapons of faith
Winds of heaven breathing through my soul
Breaths of love and grace over my bones do blow
Fills me up with gladness and song – all the day long

CHORUS:

Welcome to a brighter day – and a brand-new way
We live in faith – we walk in heavenly grace
We know our Lord Jesus Christ, face-to-face
No weapon formed can break me – no raging storm can shake me
I've traded all my misery for a crown of glory

CHORUS:

Welcome to a brighter day – and a brand-new way
We live in faith, walk in grace – know our Lord face-to-face
No longer a stranger – no longer alone
We are part of God's family – around the throne

Flowing out of the heavens power, glory and righteousness; upon us His love now shines. Out of the heavens come rivers of grace and faith; flowing from our Lord Jesus Christ, the True Vine.

END: Oh how it flows through my thirsty soul – makes me leave this world behind
Got my love buzz off that new wine – that continually flows from the true vine

EARNEST OF THE SPIRIT II

II Corinthians 1:22-24

We hath been given the earnest of the spirit, a little taste of our heavenly reward. It is the down payment of what we shall receive around the throne in heaven. This comforter, the Holy Ghost is just a sample of what we shall be feeling throughout eternity. Relax now; breathe in the breath of God as He brings new life to our souls.

No bags of silver, no bags of gold – no fine wines, cuisines, and no limousines
No more building my life on the shifting sand – chasing after fading things
I got a down payment of the glory of God – got that feeling moving in my soul
It's the earnest of the spirit, flowing like wine – in my heart and in my mind

CHORUS:

Just a little taste - is all I need
Just a little sip - to comfort me
He takes the strife away, gives my heart a resting place
Fills my life with heavenly praise
This earnest of the spirit – brings new life to my day

It's in my sleep, it's in my dreams – it's the power of Christ in me
I just close my eyes as His glory moves
Rolling inside of me in a heavenly groove

BREAK:

He hath anointed me – sealed me in by His heavenly grace
He brings me closer to eternal life – with every step and breath I take

I breathe in His peace – I breathe in His love – I breathe in whispers of His grace
Power and miracles blow over my soul – as I behold His shining face

CHORUS:

Just a little taste - is all I need
And I take a little sip - to comfort me
Just a little taste of my heavenly reward

BREATH OF LIFE

Genesis 2:7, John 20:22, Acts 2:2-4

As Adam received your breath of life, My Father God, I now stand before you to receive your heavenly breath. I am changed into a new person, filled with your righteousness, love, grace and power, as I breathe in your breath of life.

Like a warm and gentle breeze – that blows through the forest and trees
The breath of my Lord – embraces me
He blows upon the bruises – the world has left behind
Wipes away all the tears – from His children's eyes

CHORUS:

Oh the love of God is something to behold
How He breathes upon our flesh – and heals our souls
With breaths of His love – breaths of His peace
We breathe in His word by faith – hath been given unto me all things

BRIDGE:

He blows over my bones – His winds of glory, power and peace
Changing the air I breathe

He breathes His heavenly mercy – into our troubled lives
He makes all things new – in our flesh He now abides

CHORUS:

Oh the love of God is something to behold
How He breathes upon our flesh – and heals our souls

I breathe in His love – breathe in His peace
I breathe in His grace – I breathe in His breath of life and live in victory

THE CRUISIN' SONG

Every mile is filled with praise – in every turn I'm guided in faith
In my rearview is my old life – and it's fading fast out of sight (out of sight)
My gas tank's filled with a Holy flame – my engine's humming 'glory to His name'

I'm cruising down this old highway – to a new place of love and grace (love & grace)

I'm living in the life of Christ – living on my Father's word
I'm shifting gears into overdrive – through the storms and darkness I ride
(through the darkness I ride)

Hath been given strength to my heart (to my heart)
No taking U-turns back to the dark (no more U-turns)

CHORUS One:

Through the highs and through the lows – I keep rolling on and on
On this glory road I go – cruising to this kickin' song (kickin' song)

CHORUS Two:

Through the highs and through the lows – I keep rolling on and on
On this glory road I go – with my engine humming to this cruisin' song

END:

I rev it up, step out in faith (step out in faith)
His mercy hath paved the road, giving me a new life (a new life) – and a brighter day

WELCOME TO THE FAMILY

Mathew 25:43, Ephesians 2:19

Maybe somebody once told you that you were too far gone, using religion as a hammer, not to heal but beat you. They made our Father God feel cold and far away. But Jesus had time for the ones the temple never used, never turned away the ones that everybody else refused. He sat with the sinners, ate with the broken. Through Him we are no more strangers, but fellow citizens with the saints of the household of God. His grace doesn't ask your history, or check your past. So come not to religion, but come as you are with all your scars. Let the blood of Christ wash you as you enter the gates of His city. Welcome stranger to God's family.

Once we were strangers – who fell and lost our way
Then He changed us, He clothed us – He gave us a resting place
Now the call goes out to all – come on in from the cold and rain
To every nation and tongue, come be made one – a child of His heavenly grace

CHORUS:

Come along my friends – step through the gates of His city
Washed away is all your old life – then He crowns you in glory
Welcome stranger – welcome to the family

Join the family at our Father's house – leave this world behind
Escape your mistakes - and stay drunk on heavenly wine

CHORUS:

Come along my friends – step through the gates of His city
Washed away is all your old life – then He crowns you in glory
Welcome stranger – welcome to the family

CHORUS 2:

Come along my friends – step through the gates of His city
You need no ticket, secret handshake, or no money
You're not alone - you've found a home, in this heavenly city
Welcome stranger – welcome to God's family

TASTE THE WINE

Settle on down, come take a seat
There's room at the table for the hungry and weak
From the least to the lost, get ready to enjoy
The finest from the vine
Gather all your friends – come on in
Bring 'em to the feast – at our Father's house
We're breakin' the bread – lifting up the cup
With drinks all around

CHORUS:

Straight from the throne to our thirsty souls- living waters and wine do flow
From the tree of life – our Lord Jesus Christ - all our needs are supplied

Taste the wine that fills your soul
Bread of heaven that makes you whole
Flowing love and grace at our Father's house
With drinks all around

CHORUS:

Straight from the throne to our thirsty souls- living waters and wine do flow
From the tree of life – our Lord Jesus Christ - all our needs are supplied

From our Lord Jesus Christ – the tree of life – all our needs are supplied

END:

Oh the love of God – is something to behold
How He makes us all new with heavenly food – bread and wine fill our souls

VOICE OF VICTORY

Awake ye nations - to the glory of God – for
A brand new day is born – His Kingdom - hath come
Awake all ye hearts – draw near all ye souls
Hear that victory sound – in the mulberry trees
Being not willing that any should perish
The voice of the Lord – calls unto thee

CHORUS:

The voices of the angels – break through the darkness
With that victory sound – bringing glory down

Calling out to all creation – sons of God in every nation
Come out from among them
Strike the strings – beat the drum
The kingdom age hath come

CHORUS:

The voices of the angels – break through the darkness
With that victory sound – bringing glory down

END:

He's not willing – that any should perish
The voice of victory – now calls unto thee

LAND OF GRACE

This restless heart was lost and broken – searching for a resting place
I searched the world for a place to belong
And I thought all hope, all hope was gone
Then the light broke through – the clouds rolled back
I heard a voice as the sound – of many waters

CHORUS:

Come thou in, step through the gates – ye weary and weak
Come thou in to my meadows of peace
Your feelings of being unwanted fade away in this place
In my heart of love – my heavenly land of grace

In this land our souls are fed – with living water, and living bread
We live day-to-day with our Lord face-to-face

CHORUS:

Come thou in, step through the gates – ye weary and weak
Come thou in to my meadows of peace
Your feelings of being unwanted fade away in this place
In my heart of love – my heavenly land of grace

No longer lost looking for a place
I've been made a citizen in this Land of Grace

LIVING WATERS III

John 7:38, Titus 3:5, Ephesians 5:26 – 27

Like a rolling tide – washing over me
Washing away – all my enemies
Flowing from our Father - living heavenly water
Washes out all our old life – washes in the life of Christ

Feel that bubbling fountain – How it rolls through your soul
Like a well that never runs dry – rolling rivers over your body do flow
Oh what a feeling – His mercy and His healing
Flowing like a river – like a river to me

Let it pour, let it rain – wash me from my head to my feet
Let it rain over these dry bones
Let the power of His word - keep on rolling in me

ALIVE IN CHRIST II

Ephesians 2:19

Through a lifetime of hard days – when the pills can't take the pain away
Dragging our heavy loads – down the broken roads
Through the depths of our sorrows – completely dead in our sins
Living this life – just trying to get by
Then the brightness of His likeness – shining like the sun
Turns our darkest night into light

CHORUS:

Like a blinding light – in the dead of night -He opens our eyes
Breaks us out of the darkness – brings us alive
Shining like a diamond – like gold in the hottest fire
Raised to a brand new life – alive in Christ

A new day hath dawned – the Son hath come
Bringing new breath – to our lungs
No more shame – no more pain
We rise in the power - of His name

CHORUS:

Like a blinding light – in the dead of night -He opens our eyes
Breaks us out of the darkness – brings us alive
Shining like a diamond – like gold in the hottest fire
Raised to a brand new life – alive in Christ

END:

Hath been raised to a brand new life – alive in Christ

ANOTHER DAY OF GLORY

I won't look back – I'm rolling down the road of brand new track
The former things – hath all faded away
I got my heart full of fire – my mouth full of praise
As the glory of the Lord rises – in this dawning day
Let every heart and tongue – sing a song of victory
Come dancing to our Father's house – Bringing forth honor and glory

Dance like little kids – dance like David did
Come together around the throne – as the family sing as one

It's just another day - of glory, power and praise
Let the instruments of life – bring on the morning light

Power in the morning – praises at noon
The day is filled – with a heavenly groove

It's just another day – of glory, power and praise
It's another day of living in heavenly grace

BELLS OF ETERNITY

Calling every heart – come before Him with praise
Bring glory and honor through the kingdom gates
Gather to the mark of the bells – Crystal tones so loud and clear
It's the sound of victory to our ears

CHORUS:

Let the nations rise and sing – let the rhythm of His kingdom ring
Let the bells toll in this day of Jubilee
Chimes of joy, love and peace – Silver tones of grace and mercy
The sound of the Savior calling unto thee

Around the throne the voices ring – hear the angels sing – a symphony
Hear the Bells of Eternity – salvation calling unto thee
Tolling bells of Christ's victory

CHORUS:

Let the nations rise and sing – let the rhythm of His kingdom ring
Let the bells toll through the New Jerusalem in this day of Jubilee

FAMILY OF GOD

Gathered from among – every nation and tongue
Our heavenly Father - hath made us all one
Mothers and fathers – sons and daughters
Little children – in the kingdom of light
Washed away is our old life
All things made new – by the blood of Christ

CHORUS:

We are family – the family of God
Made one with Jesus in heaven and earth

From every nation and tongue – our Father hath made us all one

Come all and see – taste the victory
Bring honor and glory – through the gates of His city
Welcome to the family – come in and rejoice
Dance around the throne – and make a joyful noise

CHORUS:

We are family – the family of God
Made one with Jesus in heaven and earth

All over the world – we're united in love
All over the world – we're made one by His blood

CHORUS:

We are family – the family of God
Made one with Jesus in heaven and earth

HEAVENLY MIRACLES

I Peter 1:3 – 2:24

One breath at a time – step by step
I inherit the fullness of Christ
Delivered from the deeds of darkness – I'm covered in heavenly light
I don't have to struggle – I don't have to strive
I enter through the gates – He brings me alive
Bought and washed by His blood – I'm clothed upon in heavenly love

CHORUS:

Everything in this life that I need – hath been given to me

BRIDGE:

I GOT HIS PEACE IN THE STORM – PRAISE IN MY VOICE
POWER IN MY HANDS – FIRE IN MY EYES
GRACE IN EVERY HEARTBEAT - STRENGTH IN MY BLOODSTREAM

CHORUS:

Everything in this life that I need – hath been given to me

By His stripes I am healed – with His words in my mouth I make it real
Miracles and glory are mine – the joy of a lifetime

END:

Heavenly miracles from head to feet – I walk in the fullness, I live in victory

DAY OF JUBILEE

CHORUS:

There's a sound from the city – a sound of joy, and a sound of praise
Can you hear it – calling out from the gates

From the east to the west – calling the old and young
All that hath breath – come on along

Enter in with thanksgiving – enter in with a song
Come dancing and rejoicing – to the New Jerusalem

With the saints and angels - Make the heavens ring
In this day of Jubilee

CHORUS:

There's a sound from the city – a sound of joy, and a sound of praise
Can you hear it – calling out from the gates

Hear that kingdom song – children singing around the throne
Come and see - this day of Jubilee

DIAMOND II

Every sculptor sees the statue through the stone before the work begins. Our Lord sees beneath the flesh, what He can make us as we give ourselves to Him. Our testimony shows how our Father makes diamonds out of damaged clay, not out of anger, but out of love. Diamonds are created with time, pressure and fire. We hear people say, I can't go on, God has abandoned me, my misery will never end, what did I do to deserve this pain? In those hard times, He is breaking through layers of sin, hardened by guilt and fleshly ways. Through His word and consuming fire He crushes that hard shell to reveal a precious gem. The hand that made the heaven and earth settles upon us and crushes out poison, grinds down pride, sin and doubt, smashes dirty idols, refines us in His mercy and fire. Then He brings forth beauty from ashes, glory from dust. We were the dust of the earth, lumps of clay, now made temples of His grace, sons of God crowned in glory; dazzling diamonds in the hands of our King.

The hand that made the heaven and the earth – hath now settled upon me
Like a diamond He makes me shine – and victory over the enemy is mine

Beauty from the ashes – glory from the dust
Sparkling diamonds He makes all of us
Let the fire burn – let His love crush your soul
Then you rise up sons and daughters of God – with a heavenly glow

He strikes with His fire – wipes with His blood - creates us in the image of Christ
He makes all things new – as He crushes our old life
Upon my soul - bring down that heavenly fire

Light me up in fire and power –like a diamond – shimmering in glory
With my armor shining like the sun– breaking through the darkness – I rise in victory

THE WHIRLWIND

On the day of Pentecost, there came a rushing mighty wind from heaven over the Apostles. Tongues of fire settled upon each of them, and they were filled with the Holy Ghost. Like the mighty whirlwind of Ezekiel, the Holy Spirit settles upon us with tongues of fire; blowing over our bones, making all things new. A new wind is blowing over this dry land as we rise up from the boneyard, and dance the dance of victory.

We're soldiers in the army of God – breathing breaths of fire and glory
His sword in our hand, His word in our mouth – we rise in victory
We breathe the breath of heaven – by the winds of glory
Upon us in tongues of fire – like a mighty whirlwind

Awake ye nations to the thunder of the ages – the day of victory
Strike up the strings – and let the praises ring

CHORUS:

Feel that fire, feel that glory – the mighty winds of the spirit
The winds are rollin', feel it blowing – let those dry bones rise up and breathe
The wind of the Lord rushes over this dry land - makes these dry bones wanna dance
Calling out to all creation – sons of God in every nation
Let's shake the ground with that victory sound

CHORUS:

Feel that fire, feel that glory – the mighty winds of the spirit
The winds are rollin', feel it blowing – let those dry bones rise up and breathe

END:

We breathe the breath of heaven – by the winds of glory
Upon us in tongues of fire – like a mighty whirlwind

IN THE NIGHTSEASON

Psalm 4:8, 16:7

The nightseason in the New Jerusalem gives us a peace that passes all understanding. We settle down in restful sleep as the Shepherd of our souls guides our hearts and teaches us through the spirit of life. Resting in His presence, sleeping in heavenly peace. Then we rise and breathe the morning air in Zion, for His glory hath covered us all through the night.

As I lay down tonight – a new place of rest – hath been given to me

CHORUS:

He covers me in glory – from my head down to my feet
He rocks me slowly – in the cradle of peace

Whispers of mercy – settle down upon me
I breathe in breaths of peace – I hath been given heavenly sleep

CHORUS:

Rock me slowly – in the cradle of peace
Cover me in glory – from my head to my feet

As the angels sing - playing songs of the spirit of life
Hath been given me His peace – and a new place of rest tonight

MIRACLES UPON YOU

2 Timothy 4:8, Malachi 3:10

Out of the heavens – mighty miracles do flow
As our Father brings together His family
Washed in His blood – clothed with His love
Step-by-step we enter the gates of His city
It's something to behold – how He crushes all the old
His grace fills our souls
Your old life is gone – the life of Christ hath come
In the New Jerusalem – He makes us all one

CHORUS:

In the New Jerusalem – come miracles upon you
He crowns you in love – and makes you all new

EXHORTATIONS AND COUNSELS

HEARTBEAT – RHYTHM OF OUR FATHER

Luke 21:34, II Timothy 3:1-5, Colossians 3:2, Romans 12:2

In the quiet moments of life, there is a steady, unchanging rhythm, the heartbeat of the Father God. It pulses through creation, through Scripture, and through life itself. This divine rhythm is the gentle, consistent beat of God's love, presence, and purpose. It beats with the same faithfulness that has sustained galaxies. We were made to live in sync with that heartbeat. Many people think the heart beating in their chest is nothing more than a lump of flesh that moves to keep them alive. But it is actually a spiritual timer placed inside your body by God himself. He designed the heart to accomplish three spiritual purposes in your life.

FIRST: God created the heart to set a rhythm in your body, teaching your spirit to sync up with His. When your heart races with anxiety, desire, or hatred, your whole being gets dragged along. But when you give your heart to the one who made it and let Him set the rhythm, your life is changed. No matter how chaotic the outside world becomes, inside there is a steady peace that only the Holy Spirit can give.

SECOND: Your life is not measured in years. He allows you to live one beat at a time. In His hands, your life is counted through each heartbeat. Every beat is one more opportunity to repent, one more chance to turn back.

THIRD: Every heartbeat proves that you cannot sustain yourself. A man's days are in God's hands. You may be able to provide for a family, and hold on to prosperity, but you cannot sustain your own heartbeat. You cannot control when it begins, nor can you hold on to it when it stops. The fact that you are alive right now is not because you are a strong human being, but because God has not yet said, stop.

The human heart was created with the specific frequency of the Father, that deep, calm, unshakeable rhythm that has been pulsing at the center of the universe since before time.

The Garden of Eden was not just a beautiful location. It was the representation of heaven on earth, in harmony with the rhythm of the Father. Adam and Eve did not have to search for God, He walked with them. The rhythm was uninterrupted. The connection was unbroken. The heartbeat was the background music of everything.

Then the distraction came.

And it did not come as something terrible. It came as something that looked harmless and wise; something that appeared to offer more than what they already had. The original distraction was simply an invitation to look away from the face of God long enough to want something more. The enemy has never changed his strategy. Distraction is his most useful weapon, because it does not look like a weapon. Satan doesn't really need you to worship him. He simply needs to make you too busy, too distracted, too entertained, too tired to sit still long enough to hear and feel the heavenly rhythm. His goal is to pull the soul out of sync with the Father's steady beat. He just needs you to pay attention to this small thing for a little while. It seems reasonable to respond to a busy world, to stay informed or stay connected. He fills the space that belongs to God, keeping the notifications coming, keeping you scrolling, keeping the calendar full.

In our noisy world, distractions constantly compete for our attention. The phone that never sleeps; the news cycle; movies, nightlife, and endless entertainment; noise without meaning, all drown out the one sound our souls were made to hear; the gentle whisper of the Holy Spirit.

Satan can keep you laughing, scrolling, and streaming all the way to judgment. He can keep you obsessing over social media, chasing nightlife, binge-watching darkness every night, and you will never feel like you crossed a line because it happens so gradually; you won't realize it until the damage is done.

These distractions promise fulfillment but deliver only emptiness. They pull our hearts out of sync with the Father, leaving us tired and spiritually off-beat. Who or what is your heart beating for? We either move to the steady pulse of our Father God, or we get dragged along by the chaotic, high-speed noise of a distracted world; and are left spiritually exhausted.

Jesus said, take heed to yourselves, lest at any time your hearts be overcharged with surfeiting, drunkenness, and cares of this life, and so that day come upon you unawares. A warning to all, especially people who know Him but get distracted; Everyday people who just prefer entertainment over the Holy Spirit, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God.

Be still and know. Not be still and figure it out. Not be still and plan your next move. Simply be still and know. Know that the steady heartbeat of the Father is greater than your anxiety. Know that His rhythm is wiser than your street smarts. Distraction is not always sin. But it is always theft. Every moment spent chasing noise is a moment stolen from the still small voice that speaks in your anointing. Every hour spent caught up in worldly affairs is an hour taken from the fellowship of our Lord.

When He is your center, when your heart synchronizes with His, something remarkable happens. The distractions do not disappear, but they lose their grip. The noise does not stop but it no longer dominates you.

He is not asking for part of your time. He is asking for your whole heart, and the moment you give it, His kingdom and all His riches pour out upon you from the windows of heaven.

The most powerful thing you can do is submit yourself, be consumed in the rhythm of grace. Carry it with you. Let it pulse through your words and your presence. People will feel it without being able to explain it. Jesus understood this. In the middle of crowds and noise He listened and prayed. He was never hurried or rushed into anything, but maintained a rhythm that was in sync with His Father, and it showed. His heartbeat was calibrated to the Father's; and people felt it when they were near Him. Not just His power, His peace.

He does not demand that you clean yourself up before you tune in, or to wrestle and strive with distractions on your own. He does not require that you conquer all your doubts and sins. He simply requires that you turn toward Him.

"Set your minds on things above" and "be transformed by the renewing of your mind." This renewal happens as we turn away from the noise of the world and fix our attention on Christ. The more we behold Him, the more we become like Him. Every day presents a choice: to follow the rhythm of the world, or to walk in the heartbeat of the Father.

So now we come before the Father in the person of Jesus. As Jesus groaned in the spirit before raising Lazarus we see that this kind of prayer/communication goes beyond what words can say. Speaking in tongues, groanings and utterings in the spirit concentrate the force of heaven in our bodies; literally tuning us to the frequency or rhythm of our Father God.

Close your eyes for just a moment. Not to escape. Not to check out, but to check into that place in the spirit. Utter in the spirit and feel that peace and rest of heaven clothe upon you. Confess, Lord Jesus, Father, I accept that you hath clothed upon me with the Holy Spirit. You hath absorbed my heart into your heart, synchronized in your love and grace, keeping me in harmony with you. By faith in your word I say it hath been done. Feel that calmness of the spirit as our Father has control of your soul?

As we obey the prompting of the Holy Spirit, our hearts begin to beat in harmony with His. Peace replaces restlessness, joy overcomes discouragement, and His love reshapes our desires. The noise of the world no longer holds authority over the direction of your soul. As long as your heart is still beating, our Father is giving you another chance.

THE RIGHT PLACE AT THE RIGHT TIME

Proverbs 16:9

"In their hearts men they plan their course, but the Lord establishes their steps"

Have you ever felt like an inconvenience changed your entire day? A traffic jam, a delayed flight; a long line at the grocery store; an unexpected phone call when you were right in the middle of a project. That traffic jam you hated this morning, that awkward conversation in the grocery line, or that unexpected phone call were not interruptions to your day. Our father God is not just the God of great miracles; He is the God of the small detail. He governs geography, traffic, delays, and meetings.

What the world calls a coincidence, luck, karma, or the universe aligning, we recognize as our Father God. For us, these moments point directly to a creator God who is involved in everyday details of creation. Running into an old friend at the grocery store, sitting next to a stranger on a flight, or being forced to take a different route home can be disruptions that put you in exactly the right place. Sometimes God disrupts our plans, our comfort zones, or our successes because He has an appointment waiting for us. Sometimes we are forced to leave a "good" place to be in the "right" place.

When we look at the scriptures, we see that history's greatest turning points didn't happen by human design, they happened because ordinary people were found at the right place, at the right time, guided by our Father. Most of the great moments in the scriptures didn't start with a booming voice from heaven; they started on an ordinary day.

Let's look at our family of the Scriptures. Every one of them was put in the right place at the right time. Esther in the palace when they needed her. Joseph sold into slavery. David on the hillside with a sling. Mary in the silence of midnight when the angel said the Lord is with you now. Ananias arrived precisely when Paul was vulnerable, restored his sight and welcomed him into the faith. Every one of them was just an ordinary person, placed by God in the right moment. Joseph spent years in a pit and a prison, and Moses spent forty years as a shepherd in the backside of the desert. Neither of them knew it at the time, but those difficult or boring seasons were training grounds.

If Joseph had been pulled out of prison a year earlier, he would have been a nobody. If he had been pulled out a year later, nations would have starved. God used the painful, silent, hidden years to prepare Joseph's character for the exact moment of crisis.

Esther was in the right place because God had positioned her there long before the crisis even existed. You have been placed in your workplace, your neighborhood, your specific family, and your social circles not by accident. You may not know why you're standing where you're standing today. You may not understand why a particular person crossed your path. You may not see what God is doing behind the scenes.

As you listen to the quiet prompts of the Holy Spirit, moving in the person of Jesus Christ, you are placed to be a voice of deliverance, grace, love and kindness, or truth to someone who needs it right now.

Sometimes, the "right place" feels like a season of suffering, grief, or pain. Trusting the Father in those moments means believing that even your pain can be used for a purpose you cannot see yet. Consider Moses in the desert or Joseph in prison: God used the hidden, uncomfortable places to prepare them for a moment they could not see yet. Joseph was just doing chores, Ruth was just picking up leftover grain, and Philip was just walking down a dirt road. None of them woke up knowing history was about change.

If you are currently in a season of waiting or hardship, it may feel like you are in the wrong place. But moving in obedience, with your heart submitted to the Father, you know from your spirit inside that God is using this exact moment to shape your character, to strengthen your faith, and prepare you for a responsibility you can't see yet. Sometimes when we rush around we are often blinded to the people around us. The greatest tragedy is missing the person right in front of us because we are too distracted by our phones, our worries, or our own checklist. When we think about right place appointments, Satan will throw confusion on us with suggestions of: What if I miss my moment? What if I'm too tired or too busy to notice the person God put in front of me? And although we often fail to show patience and calmness in those times, by no means should we give up. Our Father wants us to be alert and make the most of every opportunity, but grace is our safety net. God's plans do not fail because of our weaknesses or distractions. If you miss an opportunity, God is big enough to make a way for that person to be helped. No condemnation, no self-pity, just offer yourself a sacrifice, let grace work and continue on.

God doesn't show us the grand finale of our lives. He just gives us prompts for this current moment, to check in on a neighbor, or to pause and listen to a coworker who is struggling. Everyday faithfulness is about obeying the small promptings of the spirit without needing to see the big picture. Everyday faith is about being available. You don't need to have great moments; you just need to show up faithfully in the small moments and let God handle the timing. When you move in obedience to the Father you are never in the wrong place at the wrong time.

Being in the "right place at the right time" doesn't always feel comfortable to us while it is happening, whether it is a pit, a prison, a desert, or a battlefield. We are not here by accident; we are not here by chance. We were placed here in this moment, made to be a vessel of the Holy Ghost. This is the time of our lives. We were made for this, we were born for this. Not for the ordinary, not for just getting by. Every moment every heartbeat, we were born to bring glory and honor to our Father's house.

And when it comes down to it, we are told to entertain strangers for they may be angels. That is a warning. Angels can look so much like humans that you could sit, eat, talk for hours and never realize who is in front of you. There is a blessing waiting for you in this. We live our lives organized by calendars and schedules. When things go off-script, our reaction is frustration. We don't strive with these feelings of our flesh, the thoughts in our minds, or the desires of our hearts. When your schedule gets interrupted, instead of getting frustrated, just come at rest and confess, "Lord Jesus, your words are my words, your thoughts are my thoughts.” My Father God I receive the calmness of your spirit and I confess that you hath made me sensitive to the needs of the people you bring before me, your will in me hath been done. There is the victory.

THE SWORD, TRUTH, AND GOD'S JUDGMENT

Hebrews 4:12; Matthew 10:34; John 3:19

Coming into the New Jerusalem as strangers, becoming the children of promise, by grace we must be cleansed and purified of all flesh and fleshly ways that we received in the world, religions or wherever. Unless God searches us out by the spirit, our heart is hidden to us. Because in our old way of life we've covered it over so much, justified ourselves, until we don't even know what's wrong with ourselves. But the word of God searches down into the innermost parts of the belly. He goes all the way back to our childhood and gets the root of Satan, where he started in us. He reveals the workings of Satan, Satan as God that forms in us unclean spirits, or demons in our flesh and cuts them out of us. This is how it works to become virgins through Christ, no guile in our mouth, sons of God in the earth. But this is not what religion and the world requires.

The world loves celebrating Jesus as the gentle shepherd and the Prince of Peace. A Christ that offends no one, and blends into the culture of darkness. Christian churches sanitize the message of truth, soften our God's doctrines, and soften righteous lifestyles so as not to offend the world. Trying to blend in, keeping an "artificial peace" with the culture of darkness. But Jesus did not come with a white flag of surrender to the world's values; He came with a declaration of war against sin, ways of the flesh, and compromise. He brought a sword. He looks His disciples in the eye and says, I did not come to bring peace, but a sword." While Jesus came to bring peace to our spirit and harmony with the Father God, He didn't promise peace to the world. The sword of Christ exposes this false peace. The sword symbolizes a spiritual division that the truth brings. When the gospel confronts the human heart, it forces a choice, repentance or rejection.

He promised the separation between light and darkness, War between truth and deception. His sword cuts away compromise, and carves out a path for truth. It even divides bloodlines.

Christ didn't come to confirm people in their comfort zones or blend into the world's systems. He said that the message of the kingdom would be divisive and uncomfortable, even within families, communities, and nations. He came to cut through lies, expose darkness, and demand loyalty to the truth.

You have to decide between obedience to the Father and loyalty to the world. Jesus warns that loyalty to Him will rip apart relationships, families, social circles, and professional reputations. His word is a surgical instrument of divine judgment, cutting deep to separate what is eternal from what is rotting." That blade of the Holy Spirit cuts away all compromise, and double-mindedness. Makes you stand firm in love, and not bow to the culture of darkness.

Our father of faith said the sword of the spirit, the word of God is the operating or surgical ministry of the Holy Ghost that reaches in and pulls things out of you to get you released.

Let the word put inside you a love for judgment. Love the judgment upon your own self, love the judgment upon any works of Satan you see appear in any person's life. Learn to love judgment upon your own soul; knowing that the judgment in this life, the fire and terror, is the way to escape the eternal judgment of God. The judgement of God upon your life that comes by His word, the sword of the spirit, burns off anything that comes against you. Burns by His blood, His flesh, and by His breath of authority, and then soothes down in love and gentleness. Let it be a new way of life.

Present yourself before the Lord for a burning of His judgment upon you; to bring down the sword of the spirit upon your life. This is the way of safety. If a desire or something sneaks back into your life and you find yourself in death, then learn to come before the throne, before the burning fire, and blood of the Heavenly Sacrifice. Let Him burn in you and travail until all that's gone. Let Him judge you daily and all during the day, let Him purge you. He comes with love mixed with a little fire. But if you let it pile up on you, then it has to come with suffering and travail.

God is not neutral and cannot forever tolerate a lukewarm, compromised church that flirts with the world while wearing His name; a church that attempts to play both sides. The sword of the spirit forces a choice. You cannot straddle the fence. In the face of God's judgment, neutrality is a vote for darkness. His judgment is the final sorting of what is real and what is false, what is built on the Rock and what is built on sand. The sword represents that judgment, forcing us to decide now where we stand. Father, I stand before you in the person of Jesus, for you to pour it on me Lord. Bring down the sword of the spirit upon my life, destroying anything not pleasing to you. It hath been given unto me to love judgment. For I know that your judgment is a way you've provided to keep me safe and clean. Faith in you I say it hath been done.

Finally, a few more words from the Father. Let the wise show a godly conversation with his works and meekness of wisdom. Let every action be such that it will win our Father's approval. Let those who fear God and believe His word put a guard on their lips. Let them be determined not to speak words that will injure the cause of our Father, or give a wrong representation of the work being done, building His kingdom in earth. Let us in word and action show that we obey the laws which are obeyed in heaven. Thy work of righteousness shall be in peace, and the effect of righteousness, imparted in love, grace and power forever.

THE SURGICAL MINISTRY

James 4:14, Mathew 6:14,15, Ephesians 6:18, Romans 12:1

In this counsel we want to build upon what Brother Pruett did on Memphis B, the message on gutting, surgical ministry of the Holy Ghost.

Many people measure their spiritual life by church attendance. You show up on Sunday, you sing the songs, make your confessions of faith. Then you walk out those church doors, and leave the Father and His kingdom behind. Monday through Saturday, your life looks no different from your neighbors. You gossip at work, you lose your temper in traffic, you chase the same material dreams, you compromise the same way everyone else does. But the Father doesn't want your church attendance. He wants your life. Every single day, every single decision, if your faithfulness to the Father doesn't change how you live when no one's watching, you are moving in religious righteousness.

You're not on fire for our Father and His kingdom, but you're not cold either. You give just enough to feel religious, but never enough to be transformed. You believe, but you don't hunger and thirst for righteousness. You serve, but you don't surrender. You're comfortable in the middle, and the middle is exactly where satan wants you. Jesus said, So, then because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will spue thee out of my mouth. Lukewarm faith is a form of godliness without the power of God. A lukewarm heart thinks it is safe. It wears the costume of devotion to the Father. You sing the songs, but your heart is somewhere else. You raise your hands, but your heart moves in the flesh.

You may look good on the outside, say the right things, go to church, own a Bible, pray before meals. You may post Bible verses on social media. And people might think you are strong in your faith, but behind closed doors, there's a sin you keep going back to. You tell yourself, God understands. I'm only human. I'll deal with it later. But, later never comes. Every time you return to that hidden sin, you're choosing that over Jesus. Your secret habits aren't secret to God. He sees everything.

You love Jesus as long as following Him doesn't cost you anything. As long as it doesn't affect your reputation, your career, your comfort, you'll follow Jesus right up until He asks you to sacrifice something that matters. Then suddenly, you've got excuses. I can't cut off that relationship. I can't give generously. I have bills to pay. Jesus said, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, take up his cross daily, and follow me. Not when it's convenient, not when it feels good. Not when it's comfortable. If your walk with Christ has never required you to sacrifice, you are following a watered-down version you created to make yourself feel better.

Paul took it one step further, present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service.

The 7th piece of the armor of God we wear is the most important part, prayer and supplication in the spirit. Prayer is not separate from the armor. Prayer keeps the armor active, so we can stand against the schemes of the devil. You may look fine on the outside, go to church, sing songs, say and do all the right things.

But in the spirit, your covering is weak, your armor is loose, your watchfulness is gone and temptations feel stronger, because prayer is the way your spiritual defense stays strong.

You are the light of the world. But light has to be fed. A lamp without oil eventually goes dim. When you give yourself a sacrifice, spend time with the Father in prayer, you carry something with you from being His presence. Moses came down from the mountain after meeting with God, and his face shined with glory. He did not conjure up that glow. He absorbed it in the presence of the Lord. That is what your submission to Him does. It fills you with light. It sharpens and strengthens your spirit, opens your spiritual eyes.

But you say I don't really need to offer myself a sacrifice every day, I'm basically a good person. I don't hurt anyone. I help people sometimes, which makes me better than most. That should account for something in God's eyes.

If you're standing on your own goodness, you're standing on sinking sand. Our righteous acts, knowledge of good and evil, are like filthy rags before God. If being good enough worked, Jesus wouldn't have needed to sacrifice himself for us.

Without sacrificing yourself for Him to completely take over your life, bring life to your anointing, you become spiritually blind. There are things you will not see, warnings you will miss, traps you will walk into, if your discernment is asleep. You may still have intelligence and common sense, but without abiding in that anointing of the Holy Ghost, you lose spiritual sight. Satan loves it when you cannot discern what is happening around you. If you cannot see the trap, you will walk into it. Yes lord!

Once you begin to let that sacrifice work on you daily, don't fall into the trap of looking down on others. You judge them for not being in the kingdom or not as spiritual as you. You feel superior. You might have all the knowledge, you might have all the spiritual disciplines mastered, but if you don't have humility and the love of God working in you for others, you have nothing.

Don't fall into the trap of holding on to grudges, bitterness and refusing to forgive that person who hurt you. If you're holding unforgiveness in your heart, you're blocking God's forgiveness for you. Those are Jesus' words. For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you. I know it's hard. I know they hurt you deeply. But holding on to bitterness is like drinking poison and expecting the other person to die. Offer them and the situation to the Father. This frees you from the prison of resentment and bitterness.

Jesus being Lord means total authority over our life, our decisions, and our future. So, we let go of the flesh, our own ideas and ways. Daily we come to our Father in the person of Jesus and confess, "Father I give myself to you as a sacrifice of your love. Take me and do with me what you please. Cut and purge me till nothing's left but Jesus in my flesh. Faith in your word, it hath been done. Simple every day submission of our body, soul, and life, brings us into the fullness. Because He completes His work in us.

ANCHORING THE SOUL AND SPIRIT

Genesis 1:3, Psalm 33:6, Hebrews 1:3, 6:19, Romans 4:17

By the word of the Lord were the heavens made; and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth.

What language did our Father speak before humans existed? He was speaking long before anyone was alive to listen. And God said, 'Let there be light.' That command was spoken into a universe where no human ear existed yet." His language or His word is a creative force itself. God did not describe light. He generated it by speaking. His breath built galaxies and the host of heaven. His words arranged solar systems. Whatever language that was, it had the power to convert nothing into everything. In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God.

Communication existed before anything existed to communicate with. Reality itself is spoken into existence. Everything we are made of was originally a sound that came from our Father's mouth. His nature that calls things that are not as though they were. Hebrews says He upholds all things by the word of His power. That same voice that holds the universe together, speaks to us and through us in scriptures and our anointing: flowing in grace, truth and mercy. Being His sons and daughters, we inherit this creative force and are able to create something from nothing by our faith confessions.

So, Satan moves to change God's creative word in the minds of men. Without the spirit guarding us, and moving inside the anointing, our Father's word is removed as the final authority and language starts bending to fleshly desires. They do not call it evil anymore. But by changing its name, sin gets renamed freedom. Pride gets renamed confidence or self-expression. Lust gets renamed love. Greed gets renamed success. Deception gets renamed truth. And disobedience is called liberty instead of rebellion. Satan did not say to Adam reject God. He made God's command sound questionable. Did God really say? He made disobedience sound like wisdom. You will be like God. First question the word. Then rename the sin. One of the clearest signs of corruption is when a culture loses the ability to name things truthfully. Desires or emotional impulses hijack language, changing the truth to fit feelings and comfort. If you can change the name, you can change how people feel about it. Then you can make them defend the thing that is destroying them. Our Father does not call sin a mistake. He calls it sin. He does not call darkness another kind of life. He calls it darkness. When fleshly desires try to bend language and redefine truth, we need a fixed, unmovable anchor. Just like a ship without an anchor on calm water will slowly drift, the human heart drifts away from truth. The truth and our Father's word are replaced by human feelings. The word of God guards the mind and heart, and anchors the spirit, keeping His word as the final authority, instead of human feelings. Jesus said, you shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free. Not your truth, not culture's truth, not the system's truth, the Father's truth.

When we continually submit to the flesh, our anointing becomes quieter. Our thoughts and speech change. Things that troubled our spirit begins to seem normal. Little compromises can slowly lead us farther away from God. Little compromises like, everybody does it; or, it doesn't really hurt anybody, so it's fine; it's not really lying, it's just a small fib. If nobody is worse off, what exactly is the harm? Skipping this doesn't hurt anyone. Maybe a little lie will spare someone's feelings. This kind of thinking comes from satan and feels reasonable on the surface. We're good at convincing ourselves something is fine when we really want to do it. Skipping the speed limit on an empty road, telling a small lie to avoid something, "it's not like it hurt anyone."

Our conversations aren't measured by whether someone gets hurt. They're measured by God's character and His commands.

So "it doesn't hurt anybody" isn't the right question. The right question is: does this honor the Father God? Does it perfect me in love, honesty, and holiness? Am I using "no one gets hurt" as an excuse instead of seeking wisdom from the Father?

Our walk with the Father doesn't have categories of "small sins that don't count" or "big sins that do." Our Christlike character is built in the small, hidden choices we make, the ones we tell ourselves don't matter because no one's watching and no one gets hurt.

Yielding to the attitude of "nobody gets hurt" changes the question from, "Does this honor God?" to "Can I get away with this?" A private lie, a secret habit, harsh words spoken behind someone's back, or a compromise no one sees may not cause immediate harm, but each can one shape your spiritual character.

Our Father asks us to live in a way that pleases Him. Something may seem harmless to us, but may not be right in God's eyes.

Just as the body requires daily nourishment to sustain life, our spiritual man needs spiritual food. When we offer ourselves a sacrifice of love into our Father's hands, we are fed heavenly manna. He molds and makes us into His image. Our body, soul, mind and life are saturated in heavenly grace and our speech changes. We stop bending words to justify our desires, and let our Father's truth speak, anchoring us to His word.
